 Dear Sir,

Enclosed is the Statement of my case addressed to the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury. I entertain no doubt that you will do kindly what is in your power to obtain a

Sir,

In answer to an application made by me to the Lords of the Treasury for the payment of four months arrears of subsistence their Lordships were pleased to observe "that I allege in my application that I have been four months travelling for the sake of my health."

And further their Lordships are pleased to observe that their Lordships do not see "that there would be any difficulty in my giving information such as is required by you."

And finally that they will not issue directions for the payment of the arrears "unless some information is afforded to that Officer (meaning, Yourself) on the subject."

I beg therefore to say that at the latter end of January last, when Count Lamoyzski, a nobleman of Poland, universally known and highly esteemed in this country, was about to leave town, knowing that I was suffering under the affection of the chest, that I was advised by the physicians whom I consulted to change

Sir,

I answer to an application made by me to the Lords of the Treasury for the payment of four months arrears of their Lordships' wages. I observe that I allege in my application that I have been four months travelling for the sake of my health.

One further thing I wish to observe to observe that their Lordships do not say "that there would be any difficulty in my giving information such as is required of you." One thing I wish to say concerning for the payment of the arrears "unless some information is offered to the Officer (meaning yourself) on the subject."

I beg therefore to say that on the last end of January last, when I was employed, a gentleman of Poland, universally known and highly esteemed in this country, was about to leave town, thinking that I was suffering under the effects of the heat, that I was ordered by the Physicians upon I was to change for some time in our climate and being favourably disposed towards me, while visiting my condition at the same time made a proposal that I should go travelling with him for the winter time of his absence from England.

 Our journey was to last only a fortnight but after the lapse of that time, circumstances have arisen which obliges him to return to town till the latter end of May last.
 In my letter to the Lord of the Treasury I have stated that under peculiar circumstances of my voyage I felt that it would not be prudent in me to mention the names of any person in my official position attending that that person's permission I am happy now to state that Lord Lansdowne when I explained to him the necessity under which I was placed of making his name, has felt no objection to my doing so and expressed himself ready to give any other assistance that may be required of his journey which I performed with him. I feel to feel from the course of the journey expecting that you will be kind to take the trouble of inquiring of the Count as to the points in which you may wish me to be informed.
 Count D'Albany is residing at No 10, Upper Grosvenor Place, and for some time air and climate, and being favourably disposed towards me, while pitying my condition he at the same time made a proposal that I should go travelling with him for the whole time of his absence from London. -

Our journey was to last only a fortnight, but, after the lapse of that time, circumstances have arisen which delayed his return to town till the latter end of May last.

In my letter to the Lords of the Treasury I have stated that under peculiar circumstances of my voyage I felt that it would not be delicate in me to mention the name of any person in my affair without asking first that person's permission. I am happy now to state that Count Zamoycki, when I explained to him the necessity under which I was placed of using his name, has felt no objection to my doing so and expressed himself ready to give any other particulars that may be required of his journey which I performed with him. I beg to put down the address of the Count expecting that you will be kind to take the trouble of inquiring of the Count as to the points on which you may wish yet to be informed. Count Zamoycki is residing at No 16 Melton Crescent, Belgrave Square. -

And as it is evident from the communication their Lordships were pleased to favour me with that their Lordships have no objection that the arrears be paid to me, only that I should first give you some information on the subject of my voyage, I see that my case rests now entirely in your hands I need not tell you how much I shall feel obliged to you ^{for} a speedy attention to this application as I can assure you that I am really sadly distressed for want of money. —

I have the honor to be
 Sir

your obedient servant

Dear Sir,

I have drawn a petition to the Lords of Her Majesty's Treasury, praying them for the commutation of my subsistence and beg to forward it to you.

I hope that what I say on the head of arrears will meet with your approbation as founded on strict justice and that you will be kind to give my petition the weight of your influence and assistance -

I am,

Dear Sir,

ever truly yours
